BITS & PIECES

BY YE EDITOR

As the second year of our labors for your community newspaper draws to a close, we would like to thank the members of our staff who have been with us for some time and who have been so dependable, responsible, and enterprising. Without them we would have given up the job long ago! Assistant Editor Mrs. Dorothy Reed, who will be in charge of our next issue, has been with us for 1-1/2 years and is more than competent to perform any of the myriad tasks of newsgathering, editing, page layout, paste-up, etc. Artist Barbara Williams and Carmel Editor Marjory Lloyd, a former editor of the Pine Cone, both came to us last March and our consequent growth would have been impossible without them.

We would also like to thank Muriel Loesel, who recently opened our business office in Carmel Valley Village, and David Pickett, who is "trouble shooting" for us in the Village office until we can find the full-time business management which this burgeoning young publication very much needs. We certainly could not have managed these past few weeks without him!

Our recent ad brought us more than a dozen applicants, many with backgrounds showing considerable business acumen, but to a man they lacked the experience in advertising and circulation which seems equally necessary. It appears that we will have to go outside the Peninsula area to find a professional publications manager.

--B. B.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The news item concerning the vandalism at the Girl Scout camp (The Outlook, November 13) is shocking and a disgrace to our community. I am told that such vandalism has been occurring over a long period in this area without arrests or restitution being made. The actions were obviously committed by a group and were not those of an individual. It should not require the services of the F. B. I. to locate the perpetrators.

Why is such a condition permitted to exist? Has the Sheriff's Department put forth any efforts in such cases or are these actions simply dismissed as unimportant? The arrest of a single member of the gang would no doubt lead to the discovery of the remainder.

If and when arrests and confessions are obtained, I would suggest that full publicity be given to the names of the perpetrators and restitution be made by them or by their parents in case they are juveniles.

J. J. Short

(Ed. Note: At this time the entire country seems to be examining its conscience in the light of the recent tragic and violent events which not only took our President but interrupted our traditional form of orderly justice. We are glad to note your concern and that of others, expressed elsewhere on these pages, regarding local problems. The interplay of parental supervision and law enforcement with the development of healthy citizens is perhaps the most urgent internal problem in our country today. The point has often been made that we in Carmel Valley can do our part by improving conditions locally.

This is not a concern which, once expressed, should merely taper off. It is one which this paper will continue to pursue at the close of the holiday season when there is time for further investigation and space for further articles.

Lest we appear to be "emphasizing the negative" we plan to institute a "good teen-ager award" in our January 1 edition and would welcome nominations for semi-monthly recognition of some hard-working young person (of whom there are many) who is accomplishing something worthwhile for himself, his family, and/or his community. ---BB).

General Underhill Opposes Condominium Proposal For Cowan Property

Editor,
Carmel Valley Outlook

Dear Sir:

They are at it again in Carmel Valley! Now there is a project afoot to rezone twelve acres at the river beyond the village. For some years, this acreage has been zoned to allow one duplex per acre on the seven-acre tract, and one house per acre on the other five. But the owner is not satisfied with these restrictions. He has gone before the Planning Commission requesting a permit to build a maximum of some 84 two-bedroom units.

Imagine what this means! Approximately 336 people, some 160 automobiles -- congestion -- noise -- sewage and traffic problems, etc. etc. Need I go on?

But this would only be the opening shot. A chain reaction for speculators would surely follow. It would flare up and down our valley like a prairie fire. Our Shangra-la would be no more. It would go the way of so many "Gardens of Eden" in California. Observe, please, what has happened to Los Angeles, San Francisco and their environs.

Carmel Valley is one of the last frontiers for graceful human living in America. That is why we've come here. Most of us are "escapees" from the curse of big-city life. Need I remind you what has happened to our cities, our suburbs and our towns. It is a major scandal of our time. They suffer from short-sighted planning. Or what is worse, no planning at all. Often this has been the handiwork of men eager to make a quick profit at the expense of us all.

80 Acres

We have 80 acres set aside for commercial purposes on the projected Master Plan for Carmel Valley. Apartments and other multiple units could be very well located within this area where they won't plague the rest of us. These 80 acres, I am reliably informed, are more than adequate for such purposes for years and years to come. Then why the anxiety to rezone these twelve acres?

If this project is approved, we will all -- with the possible exception of those who will profit thereby -- live to deeply regret such decision. It will be a sad break-through and the beginning of the end for our beautiful valley.

PLEASE DON'T LET THIS HAPPEN HERE!!!!

Yours sincerely,

James L. Underhill
Lt. Gen. (USA, Ret.)
Robles Del Rio

Letter to Editor -

In today's selfish times it is nice to hear of "the givers" -- and the word should be broadcast in the hope it may influence others.

On Thanksgiving Day from 10:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. a few locals cancelled their turkey-day customs in favor of working to get Santa's Village ready for the kids. Mel Mark got out of his sick bed with the flu to finish the carpentry on the Santa house; Ellen Waters went out with laryngitis to help June Van Hagen make and then post signs all the way to the mouth of the Valley; the Van Hagens cancelled their annual trek to their parents in San Jose so Ken could paint Santa's house, and help Don Swiess with engineering the project; the Waterses settled for a quick-serve meal so that Tom, despite back troubles, could dig holes through the hard pan. Larry Busick helped Don hang the front doors and cut scalloping for the house decorations.

It was probably all worth it when they saw the happy kids parading from the airstrip to the Village on Saturday with Santa.

Many other merchants contributed materials and merchandise of all sorts to make the Village Christmas festivities the success that now transpires. Their names will be submitted to the Outlook next week to give credit where else it's due!

School Board Approves Swim Program for CV

Approval of a swimming program in Carmel Valley if the Carmel Valley Community Center installs a swimming pool on its property was voted last week by the board of the Carmel Unified School District. A surtax would be added to the admission price for swims at the pool. This surtax would be refunded by the school board to the Community Center for the purpose of defraying the cost of a possible mortgage. The remainder of the admission price would go to the school district to partially defray costs of pool operation.

Community Center President Jim Smith expressed himself as much encouraged by the board's decision. "It was a big hurdle!" he said.

Valley Post Office Remodeling

Remodeling in the Carmel Valley Postoffice, producing a bright new look for the holiday season, did not succeed in disrupting service during the past week and was scheduled for completion by today.

Postmaster Sam Brandt says that 200 square feet of space is being made available for work space for the postal staff by means of the new formica counter in driftwood finish which replaces the 3 old-fashioned windows. Some additional postoffice boxes have also been installed -- but the waiting list for these is a lo-ong one!

Sam would like to thank all his faithful patrons for being so patient, and thanks his lucky stars that the major remodeling will be completed on schedule just in time for the major Christmas onslaught. Contractor Mel Mark installed the new partitions for Mrs. Marion Wilson, who owns the building. The remainder of the work was done by the government.

Peace on Schulte Road

The tree on the cover needs no introduction. In all its 45-foot glory, it can be seen along Carmel Valley Road from Highway One to Los Laureles Grade. It's gorgeous. It seems to have imbued everyone with a special holiday spirit. All agree it should become a yearly tradition.

Residents of Schulte Rd. rejoice in the great success of their mutual project. "It's the first thing," said one, "we've ever all been able to agree on."

Children and teen-agers who helped assemble the lighting cord, worked on bulbs, etc., include Marjorie, Nancy, Robert, Alice, and John Otter, Jr.; Carol and Janet Flint; Linda, Deborah, and David Drewien; Julie, Nancy, and David Ataide; Milo, Vincent, and Terrie Frumkin. George T. C. Smith climbed 750 feet up rough and steep terrain with his camera to photograph our frontispiece.

If you are interested, or simply wish further information please call either OL 9-2339 or OL 9-4275.

There will be an intermission for singing Christmas Carols at some time during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Andrew Lombardi are seen above cutting their wedding cake at a reception at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club following their marriage on November 23. The ceremony was performed in the Carmel Woods home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Joan Taylor, at 2:00 p. m. by Judge Eugene Harrah. The former Veronica Dawn Taylor was given in marriage by her brother, Gerald, a sophomore at the University of Southern California. Her attendants were Mrs. Bob Evans as matron of honor and Lori Haviland as bridesmaid. Bob Evans was best man for the bridegroom.

After a honeymoon skiiing at Lake Tahoe, the young couple is now at home in Seaside.

ART ASSOCIATION GALA

Members of the Carmel Art Association will be guests at a cocktail-buffet party in the association's galleries on Dolores Street on December 16. Mrs. Douglas MacGregor is in charge of party arrangements. Robert Davey, president of the board of directors issued invitations for the annual winter gala.

AFA PARTY AND SALE

Today, Mrs. Rutledge Bray is conducting an all–over-Carmel campaign to sell tickets for "Meadowlark", the sculpture donated by Emile Norman to benefit the local chapter of the American Federation of Arts.

The holder of the lucky ticket will be announced at noon on December 16. The same day the AFA will hold a sale of Christmas decorations, created by members, at the Beach Club.

The evening before there will be a party to preview the decorations. Tickets for this event ($2. 50) may be obtained at AFA headquarters on Lincoln Street.

Frank Work will be master of ceremonies for the show. Richard Osborne and Stuyvesant Fish will be his assistants.

ART DISPLAYS AT SUNSET

As a suggestion of what Sunset School could offer if it should become a cultural center for the community, local artists have been showing their work in the lobby during concerts of the Monterey County Symphony Association.

Displayed in the lobby show at last week's concert were pictures by Elwood Graham, Richard Lofton, Francisco Ferro, Gerald Wasserman and Virginia Blair Hannon, also sculpture by Emile Norman. At the opening concert of the season there were works by Iris Alberto, Clarence Bates, Howard Bobbs, Jane Buffington, Ethlyn Crouch, John Cunningham, Robert Davey, Joseph Feuerborn, Sam Harris, Steve Hennessey, Thomas McGlynn Sr., Margot Tousey and Barbara Horder West.

The show-concert combination just hints at possibilities of enriching the community with a center for all arts.

RLS CHRISTMAS BAZAAR

The annual Christmas bazaar given by the Sponsors Club of Robert Louis Stevenson School for the benefit of the scholarship fund will be held at the Pebble Beach campus on December 14.

Booths will offer plants and planters, white elephants, gift items, fresh vegetables, cookies and candy, ties, books and handwork. There will also be a "parcel post" featuring surprises mailed from all over the world.

In addition, a number of prizes will be given to lucky ticket holders. Donations are $1.00 and tickets are available at the Thunderbird Shop in Carmel Valley, also at Talbott-Carmel, Kent of Carmel and the Robert John shop in Pine Inn.

Among prizes to be won are: an electric hotplate, a boy's or girl's sweater, a $50.00 gift certificate, a handfinished men's golf sweater, a jacket for a man or a boy, a silk dress length or stole, a woman's handbag, dinners for two, pottery, a handmade evening skirt, hairstyling, and a 110-pound 4H lamb, either cut and wrapped for the freezer or "on the hoof", as suits the winner.

Palo Colorado School To Hold Christmas Fair

Palo Colorado School will hold its first Christmas Fair Saturday, December 14, 1963, from 11:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m., announces Mrs. Bottero, principal of the school. Sponsored by the pupils' parents to raise money for library books, the fair's special feature will be gift-packaged wild flower seeds, including most of the wild flowers native to the area, among them poppies, lupin, and linaria.

Christmas wreaths made of redwood and pine boughs mixed with unusual cones, and Yule logs created from eucalyptus bark and pine boughs, so as to be especially fragrant when burned, will also be offered. A "scramble table" will hold home-made articles such as aprons and potholders.

Pony rides, trout fishing, and bean bag games will furnish entertainment, and a cake sale and coffee will provide refreshment. There will also be a chance to win two free dinners at Rocky Point Restaurant.

The one-room school on the Coast Route below Carmel Highlands joined the Carmel Unified School District last September, and is the smallest school in the district.

CUSD Seeks Community Contacts

In an effort to establish a file of community resources available to the school system as a supplement to its teaching staff, Superintendent Medill Bair's office last week began the mailing of questionnaires to local residents. Carmel, Carmel Valley, Pebble Beach, and Big Sur will be covered by the mailing, which asks persons to list occupations, hobbies, travel experiences, skills, etc., which they would be willing to share with school children.

Completed questionnaires may be either left at the office of Sunset School or mailed to Miss Eleanor Crouch, School District Coordinator, at Box 335, Carmel.

CARMEL VALLEY GEM AND MINERAL SOCIETY

It was an honor to have Mr. Arthur Azevedo, San Francisco jewele and gemologist, as guest speaker at our last meeting. His collection of "one-of-a-kind" diamonds, emeralds, rubies, topazes, sapphires, etc., was slightly breathtaking. They were truly beautiful and costly stones - including the striking and rare "cateye" from Africa which he wore on his little finger.

"Diamonds Are a Girl's Best Friend" was the title of Mr. Azevedo's talk; but many other gems were discussed. Have you ever heard the contention that if all the unsold diamonds that have been mined were put on the market at once, the market would be flooded and price reduced to a few dollars per carat? I have. Yet, Mr. Azevedo says that such is not true. The need for diamonds is so great (due to their hardness and our manufacturing demands for diamonds as cutting agents) that synthetic diamonds are produced at prices higher than those of the natural material to fill the need.

A diamond is considered perfect if it shows no flaws when viewed through a 10-power glass, and colorless diamonds are more valuable than colored ones such as the "yellow" or the "pink" diamond. Amsterdam is the diamond center of the world and has been for hundreds of years. However, American diamond cutters perfected the faceted stone to the beauty and fire which we find in diamonds today.

After World War II, Mr. Azevedo returned to his jeweler's trade, but soon became unhappy with his business and the people with whom he had to deal from day to day. Then, he enrolled in a course of study with the American Gemological Society and, remarkable, found new meaning both in his life and business. Now a financial success, he is proud of his newfound knowledge and outlook.

Mr. Azevedo thinks "rockhounds" are an interesting group with a wonderful hobby. He was surprised at just how technical were our own discussions of gems and gemstones. As a good-will gesture, he took with him a stone found by Bill Culver in Monterey County, to identify it. (We all confidently guess it was a diamond!)

Gem & Mineral To Elect

The G&M Society's Nominating Committee, consisting of Charles F. Underwood, Bob Getz and Calvin Keator, reported its slate of nominees for club officers for the coming year. The report read as follows:

President, Urcel B. Holloway; Vice-President, Palmer F. Olson; Secretary, Carol Finley; Secretary, Jacqueline Olson; Treasurer, Rachel Church; Director (3-year term), Jack Gunter.

Other nominations may be made from the floor, before voting is undertaken, at the club meeting Saturday, December 14, at Tularcitos School. By-the-way, that meeting will feature a pot-luck supper for all members and their families and guests. Sounds like fun! Why don't you join us?

CARMEL JUNIOR HIGH

We hope that everyone will come !

Physical Fitness Program

BY KENNETH ROBERSON

The physical fitness program at Carmel Junior High has just started an entirely new sport. Boxing! The two coaches at CJH, coach Wesley McWilliams and Bob Walthour, have just begun instructions of boxing for self-defense.

This instruction started with the art of jump-roping (the record standing at 340 for two minutes) and later on a test to see how many could be jumped in a period of two minutes. This program will gradually build up to regular boxing experience where two boys of equal weight and size, with permission of their parents, will compete for a few rounds of actual boxing against each other.

Extra precautions have been set for the protection of the boys with head sets and sixteen-ounce gloves. So any boy who goes home with a black eye (which is very improbable) will know he had a fair fight.

All-Star Winners

BY BONNIE MILLER

The Carmel Junior High Sports Round-up, held on December 2, 1963, was sponsored by the Block "C" Club.

The officers of the Block "C" Club are President, Andy Siino; Vice President, Harry Townsend; Secretary, Wade Rose; and Sergeant at Arms, Steve Hall.

The evening began at 7:00 p.m. with a pick-up volleyball game, Fathers vs Sons.

Following the volleyball games, 7th, 8th, and 9th grade football awards were given, also individual awards for the outstanding backfield man and the outstanding lineman for each grade.

The following boys were honor winning all-stars:

7th Grade: Gary Kelley, Lineman; Jeff Wickham, Backman.

8th Grade: Marc Capitelli, Lineman; Andy Siino, Backman.

9th Grade: Gary Holloway, Lineman; Rick Hermanson, Backman.

Popcorn and Coke were served as refreshments. The Sports Round-up ended at 9:00 p. m. It was a great success.

Rock Saw Builder

BY CLIFF PERRY

Gary Hollaway, ninth grader and holder of the Carmel Junior High School 50 yard dash and 300 yard shuttle track records, has started on a complicated project, building a rock saw.

He is constructing the grinder for use on a large piece of jade. He is not using the rock saws supplied by the school because the jade is too large to be transported.

When shown to Mr. Bill Moritz, the Industrial Arts instructor, his first plans had only one problem; the way the bearings were mounted for the main shaft was too weak to hold it while it was spinning. After the correction had been made the plans evaluated, in Mr. Moritz's words, were "very fine." Gary hopes to finish building the rock saw by the end of the semester.

BY JAY GRAHAM

The music department of CJHS will present a Christmas program at the next Parent-Faculty Club meeting. The meeting will be at 7:30 p. m. on December 17.

Mr. William F. Purdy will direct the advanced and beginning choruses. The advanced band and the orchestra will be directed by Mr. J. W. Larson. A collection of Christmas songs will be played and sung.

The students and teachers in the music department have been working very hard to get ready for this performance. It would be a great disappointment if a large audience didn't arrive.

Mayor Eben Whittlesey said I could continue to "maintain a high level" through New Year's. Thirty days after the ordinance outlawing spike heels is published is the day of my doom, according to what the Mayor told everyone at last week's council meeting. But he didn't define "high level". Happy Holidays!

Fire Chief Robert E. Smith has found that one job that is just too much. He asked the council to release him from the duties of "assistant director of divil defense". That's the way the council agenda put it.

The council appointed a real cool guy to replace him. Hugh Bayless.

School Board Trustee Roxie Blanks sat and knitted through last week's council meeting. At last she heard what she'd come to find out... just what her husband, Councilman Herbert Blanks, thought about the city buying Sunset School from the school district.

The Blankses had decided that they wouldn't discuss the Sunset sale at home. That's why Roxie was making like Madame Lafarge in city hall. But she said "Chinchy, it's hamburgers for you for two weeks" instead of "Off with his head" when Councilman Blanks announced that he considered the city's $550,000 offer "too high a price" to pay for the school.

'Brave Little Tailor' at White Oaks This Weekend

BY CHRISTOPHER MILO

Current feature of the White Oaks Theatre's never-ending succession of winter season projects is this weekend's production for children of "The Brave Little Tailor," presented by the Fantasy Players. Scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 in the Barn Theatre, this farce-comedy has been wonderfully received in the Valley, and is especially popular as a birthday party attraction. Reservations may be made by telephone (OL 9-2248). Eight other performances in the Peninsula area will take place in future weeks.

CHRISTOPHER MILO

The Theatre Training Center, another winter project, closed last week with two workshop productions. After ten weeks of intensive study, members of the teenage workshop flourished through the paces of the classic story of four girls during the Civil War, Louisa May Alcott's ever popular "Little Women".

"Royal Gambit" played last Friday and Saturday evenings with all the splendor and pomp that surrounded the life of Henry VIII and his six wives. This production by the adult workshop, revealed how presentational theatre can be used to its highest.

Classes in ballet and contemporary dance for the fall session received wonderful response with more than 70 students. Ballet Mistress Angene Feves also held an extension class in Salinas on Wednesday afternoons for beginning ballet. Spring session for the dance classes will start January 20 and will continue for 15 weeks. Registration is open for these classes.

Good news to come: Formation of a "Theatre Guild" for the White Oaks Theatre is in the offing. The Guild will be launched January 8 at the C. V. Community Center with a general meeting of all interested persons. A social hour at 8:00 p. m. will precede the meeting.

BIRDS OF CARMEL VALLEY

By R. P. Parsons

There are some 200 species that may be seen on the Monterey Peninsula at various locations and seasons. Fully half of them have aquatic habits, however, and Carmel Valley does not provide much water surface with the few ponds and reservoirs and the (usual) trickle of the Carmel River. So it is most unlikely that one could find, even over a period of years, more than 100 species without going outside the Valley.

Of this 100 we shall list here only the ten which are believed to be the most common. Every good Boy Scout, Girl Scout, and every adult who is reasonably alert to his surroundings, should know these. The list will not include such universally well known species as the robin, crow, or English sparrow, although we dare say that many people cannot distinguish the English sparrow from the two other more prevalent sparrows on the Peninsula. Except for the first two, they are listed only roughly in their order of frequency.

1. White crowned sparrow: Perhaps the most common of all land birds of the Pacific Coast, from Canada into Mexico. Species is present here in equal numbers winter and summer, though not necessarily the same individuals. Distinguished from other sparrows by the three conspicuous white head stripes, running from the bill through the eye, and on up the middle of the crown, the three stripes meeting at the back of the crown. Song is distinctive and is matched in prevalence here only by that of:

2. House finch (or linnet): A sparrow sized bird easily distinguished by the rosy red head and breast (of the male--the female is drab gray-brown and heavily streaked). Song is more melodious and more sustained than that of the white-crowned sparrow. Although this finch prefers the vines about houses for nesting, he is more "scary" than most birds that frequent residential yards. Usually he will fly away if you approach within 50 feet. Another distinctive characteristic is his undulating flight and song in flight.

3. Golden-crowned sparrow: As prevalent as the white-crowned but only in the winter months, being completely absent in the

Here's to Holiday Goodies

BY JEANNINE BOTTARO

In Carmel Valley, the sweet smell of Christmas is something cooking in the oven. And although women's magazines are spilling over with Christmas recipes and mouth-watering pictures of season's goodies to prepare, there is nothing like the taste of familiar foods made dear to our memories of Christmases past -- baked by Mom in the family oven or brought as gifts by friends each year. Some of our Valley people have generously shared their favorite recipes. Maybe some have been gifts under your tree.

Friends of Mrs. Leo Berta have acclaimed her "Lebkuchen" the best of many variations of the old German recipe. Lebkuchen, or "Life cake" are iced cookies, cut in bars and packed in gift boxes to give to friends. They are firm, easy to pack, and nice to make ahead of time because they ripen well. In fact, Mrs. Berta says, they are better after being kept a few days, and will keep for several weeks.

"Lebkuchen"

3 cups flour
3 tsp. baking flour
1/2 cup chopped almonds, skinned
1/4 tsp. cloves
6 egg yolks
2 cups sugar
4 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 cup finely cut citron
1 cup milk
4 egg whites
1 cup molasses

Sift flour, measure and sift again with baking powder, cinnamon, cloves. Beat egg yolks until foamy. Then add sugar and molasses gradually. Add the melted chocolate, and then add the almonds and citron. Add the flour and milk alternately, beating after each addition. Fold in the beaten egg whites. Pour into greased baking pans so that the batter is not more than 3/8 of an inch thick. Bake at 350 degrees until done, or about a half hour. Cool in the pan. Ice thinly and let harden. Cut into strips one by three inches.

Icing

1 1/2 cups sifted sugar
2 egg whites

Beat eggs until stiff. Fold in sugar and beat until ready to spread.

Mrs. Berta says she remembers her German mother cooking Lebkuchen for her childhood Christmases, and now they have become favorites in the Berta family, pioneers in Carmel Valley.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ray who have enjoyed receiving Joan's festive Applesauce Nut Bread at Christmas time probably don't know the sentimental story behind it. The recipe is one of a book of favorite recipes made up by friends of Joan and given to her as a wedding gift. She says she makes a double recipe, and she loves it because it only takes a few minutes to prepare, yet is firm and easy to wrap in foil or cellophane. It is sliced thin and served like fruitcake.

Applesauce Nut Bread

In a mixing bowl, beat one egg. Add one cup of canned applesauce, 2 Tbs. melted shortening (or salad oil), sift 2 cups flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. soda, 1/2 tsp. cinnamon. Add one cup of coarsely chopped nuts, stir just until blended. Bake in a greased loaf pan 8 x 4 x 4 at 350 degrees, for one hour. Turn out on a rack and cool.

A variation on the nut bread theme is a favorite of Barbara Williams, the Outlook's Art Director, who is responsible for advertising layouts and most of the original drawings which occasionally enliven this small weekly. Barbara says she relies on this recipe for the holidays and for extra entertaining, and that you can depend on it to bring raves!

Orange-Date Nut Cake

1/2 cup soft butter (or margarine)
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 Tbs. orange rind (grated)
1 tsp. baking soda
2 cups cake flour
2/3 cup sour milk
1 cup chopped nuts
1/4 cup flour

Cream the butter, sugar and eggs until fluffy. Add the orange rind. Sift the flour, measure and sift again with baking soda. Add the flour mixture alternately with the milk. Add chopped nuts and dates that have been floured with 1/4 cup of flour. Turn the batter into a greased and floured loaf pan, and bake at 375 degrees for from 30 to 40 minutes.

While the cake is baking, mix the juice of one orange with one tablespoon of orange rind and 1/2 cup of granulated sugar. Allow to stand, stirring occasionally. When the cake is baked, and before removing from the pan, pour the orange juice mixture over the cake. Allow the cake to cool in the pan.

Women's Church Groups To Meet Jointly For Christmas Music

On Thursday, December 12, the women of the Monterey Peninsula Community Church will hold a one o'clock business meeting in All Saints' Parish Hall. At two o'clock they will be joined by the women of All Saints' to enjoy a program of Christmas music presented by the Choral Department of Carmel High School under the direction of John W. Farr. WILLIAM PAUL FRISBIE, who was born December 1, had an unusual Welcome Home when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Frisbie, brought him from the hospital. Waiting to hold her new baby brother was Stephanie Frisbie, dressed in the costume she will wear to portray "Mary" in the annual Christmas Pageant at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel. On hand to record the heart-catching scene with her camera was Jody Cooper.

The Pageant will be presented twice on Friday, December 20 -- at 7:00 and again at 8:00 p. m.

AS JOSEPH AND MARY, Joe Danielson and Stephanie Frisbie pose in a pasture in Carmel Valley with a donkey belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Burdett. This particular donkey, although it came from Sicily and is named "Gina," has the markings of a cross on its back, indicating it is one of the breed descended, according to legend, from the original donkey which bore Mary to Jerusalem for the birth of Jesus. Joe and Stephanie will take part in the annual Christmas Pageant on December 20 at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel. The two showings will be at 7:00 and 8:00 p. m.

Down With Poison Oak !

Afraid to touch your stubborn bush of poison oak? I don't blame you. But you CAN kill it without touching it. If it's still green, spray the leaves till they are drippy with a dolution of amino-triazol. This is a potent type of weed-killer. Then next spring, if the poison oak persists, and comes out again, give it another dose of amino-triazol. Spray on a warm day, in the morning before the wind comes up so as to avoid the risk of the spray being blown onto your flowers and other plants.

NEWS FROM HACIENDA CARMEL

NEW RESIDENTS

Just in time to get settled before the Christmas holidays are the following: Mrs. E. Becker, Dr. & Mrs. H. R. McAllister, Mr. and Mrs. N. Smith, Dr. and Mrs. W. Weldon Pascoe, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Marhofke, Mr. Edward J. Porteus and Mrs. Dolly D. Ellsworth.

DIME A DIP SUPPER AND BIRTHDAY CAKE

Last Monday saw the final pot-luck dinner for the year 1963. About 110 persons were present and 17 members with December birthdays were honored with a large birthday cake. After dinner Chris Uhlenberg told us of his experiences on his recent round the world trip.

PROGRAMS

On Sunday we had the pleasure of listening to a very fine piano program by Maria Grazia Farfoli. Miss Farfoli is a composer as well as a pianist and entertained us with several numbers of her own composition.

On December 15, Michelle Batanic, well known organist, will give a recital on our Hammond organ.

On December 23, the Choir of Bethlehem Lutheran Church of Monterey will sing Christmas carols and then enjoy a buffet dinner.

BIRDS AND BEA-STS

Now that the robins have flown south with a worm in their mouth we have noted the return of wild canaries, juncos, and believe it or not, a Kildeer (or maybe it was a gutter snipe) was picking around in one of the wet gutters a few days ago. There are also several caged birds here.

Also now that the cattle have left the San Carlos pasture, the deer have returned. Speaking of beasts, or animals, domesticated ones, that is, the members of Hacienda Carmel boast of quite a selection. At last count there were 5 cats, 6 poodles, 5 dachshunds, 1 schnauzer, and 1 great dane.

Premiere At Tantamount

Carmel Valley is the scene of a premiere this Saturday and Sunday when "Holiday Players -- a Touring Theater for Children", make their debut on stage at the Tantamount Theater. "Killer of Time" is the play, by Belgian playwright Arthur Fauquez.

Producer-director of the newly formed troupe is Mildred Cushing, long a champion of professional childrens' theater in Vancouver and Arizona. She has selected an experienced cast of players to launch the venture: Jon Baldwin, Tink Anderson, James Barrack, and John Ralph Geddis is "guest actor" for the debut performances.

A comic fantasy with incidental music, song, dance, and sound effects, the play tells of a happy-go-lucky youth who hates time and sets out to rid his native Italian village of every kind of timepiece - the church steeple clock, sundials, and even the song of the cuckoo clock.

Both performances are matinees -- December 14 and 15. Curtain is 3 o'clock. All seats are $1.00 and it is advisable to make telephone reservations: 659-2405.

FAWN IS THREE

Fawn Marie Nicholsen celebrated her third birthday on December 1, with a family party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Nicholsen of Rancho Chupinos. Present at the affair in her honor were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Nicholsen of Lafayette, California, her uncle, Dory Nicholsen of Pacific Grove, and another uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nielsen of Salinas. A gift arrived from Mrs. Harriet Meyer of Carmel.

Fawn is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Street of Menlo Park.

DEITMAN BABY

She won't be a very big girl on her first Christmas, but we have inside information from Santa that a few toys have already been tucked in his pack for Deborah Lyn Deitman. The little girl arrived November 30 at the Community hospital, weighing 5 1/2 pounds. Her parents are Sally and Carl Deitman of Robles Del Rio. Her very proud grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram N. Bishop, live on Upper Circle.

Letter to the Editor

(The following is from Bob Stuart, who left the Valley recently to accept a position as personnel manager of Norton Air Force Base. Following his retirement from the Army, he served the Outlook as business manager until locating his present position.)

Dear Betty,

San Bernardino isn't Carmel Valley, by a long shot, but there are some compensations. The new job goes well and is an interesting one. More than 10,000 employees, many in the esoteric specialties connected with the missile and space industry, make for lots of activity in the personnel field, keeping me busy and interested! Some of the communities are semi-rural still, and still pleasant to live in--but haven't done as well as CV in keeping the atmosphere and values we prize. Hope CV continues to hold out. How goes the road?

I've no doubt that the Outlook is going well if you are still editing it. Not many communities the size of CV are lucky enough to have a paper anywhere near its equal in quality. As you know, I would still be with the Outlook if this present situation weren't just too good to pass!... Even if there are some compensations here, I feel in retrospect that the Stuarts were fortunate to have been able to live for eight years in CV--there just aren't many places as fit for living!

Yours,
Bob

On The Feminine Side

BY LORRAINE TWOHIG

Some time ago, the kids and I gave Dad a birthday gift consisting of a tropical fish tank, complete with water, mermaid, fish food, and enough "loot", to acquire the first tenants. We had thought it would counteract the austerity of his office.

To my horror, the other day when I dropped in, I saw the fish, literally "gone to the dogs" .... A lone goldfish floundered around in several inches of murky water, and the mermaid looked like a lump of mud. Upon my suggestion my spouse agreed (with Alacrity), that we move the whole bit home. We did .. and, while holding my nose, I managed to scour the tank, clean the filter, install a new light, and hook up the motor. O.K.! I decided to make this a thing of beauty as well as a source of scientific information for the kids.

Calling all the pet stores of the Peninsula, I found the Suds and Scissors in Carmel Rancho had the most divine collection of fish, and I stood there, in front of all those fascinating tanks, trying to decide upon a companion for the lone marine survivor we had at home. Well, I wound up deciding I just had to have a pair of summer. Distinguished by the orange-yellow crown patch, this sparrow sings three plaintive notes in descending scale aptly said to suggest "Oh dear me." Very destructive of lawns planted before his departure for the north in April!

4. Brewer's blackbird: The common blackbird abundant throughout California, usually in flocks, on the ground or telephone wires, in village or about parks and ranch yards. Male is jet black with white eye; female lighter gray with dark eye.

5 and 6. Brown towhee and spotted (or rufous-sided) towhee: These two may conveniently be considered together. The brown is drab olive-brown all over, while the spotted is highly colorful with his jet black head and neck, orange flanks, red eye, white belly and white patches near the end of his black tail. Both are about eight inches in length, with relatively long tails. The official list classes the spotted as the more common, but my own observation would indicate quite the opposite. The two are often seen about gardens digging lawn moth larvae and other grubs. The spotted gives out a frequent call suggestive of a cat call.

7. Scrub (or California) jay: No need to describe this well known bird except to point out that it lacks the crest of the eastern U.S. jay and that of our fairly common (in more wooded areas) Steller's jay, which is more deeply purple than the scrub.

8 and 9. Anna's and Allen's humming birds: Our two common humming birds are considered together to distinguish between them. Anna's is here the year round while Allen's arrives in February (for nesting) and leaves in September for the Channel Islands and Mexico. Both males have bright red throats and cheeks but only the

Blackbird

Anna's has a tiny red throat patch which the female Allen's lacks. The colors of humming birds will vary in shade and intensity according to the sunlight and the angle from which viewed, since the color results not from pigment in the feathers but from their structure, which is responsible for their irridescence.

10. Audubon's warbler: Although completely absent in the summer, it is a very common bird throughout the Peninsula in the winter. This little (5-inch) bird which frequents our gardens in the winter is easily recognized by its five bright yellow patches, one each on the rump, crown and throat and two near the shoulders.

Space limitation prevents any description of the other common birds of the Valley but for those who might be interested, we suggest a reference to any standard book on western birds (such as Peterson's) or joining in on one of the frequent Audubon Society field trips.

Here we shall just list the names of 18 other birds which are abundant in the Valley:

California quail, pygmy nuthatch, common bushtit, cliff and violet-green swallows, red-shafted flicker, wrentit, western bluebird, ruby-crowned kinglet, sparrow hawk, black phoebe, Bewick's wren, acorn and hairy woodpeckers, western meadowlark, Oregon junco, green-backed goldfinch, chestnut-backed chickadee.

CUSD TO SELL SUNSET TO CITY....$550,000

BY MARJORY LLOYD

Members of the board of education of the Carmel Unified School District unanimously approved the sale of Sunset School to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea last Thursday evening.

The night before, by a 3-2 vote, the city council approved a sale agreement offering to pay the school district $550,000 for Sunset.

This price caused some dissension at both the board and council meetings.

OBJECTIONS

Councilmen Herbert Blanks and James C. Buffington, Jr. stated that $550,000 was too high a price to pay for the facility and voted against the sale agreement.

The following evening Maj. Gen. James H. Phillips (USA ret.) and Leonard O. Olsen of Pebble Beach, professor of physics at the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School, told the board that the school district should get more than $550,000 for the 42-lot school site and buildings.

As the matter now stands, four weeks after the first publication of the school district's intention to sell Sunset to the city, Chairman Dr. Robert E. Newton will sign the sale agreement.

The school board will then await developments from the city.

FEASIBILITY REPORT

These developments, stated in the sale agreement, will include a report from a firm of financial consultants on the feasibility of the city's buying the school and its 3.9 acre site at the proposed price. The report must be presented in writing to the council not later than March 2, 1964.

Should this report state that it would be financially unfeasible or inadvisable for the city to purchase the school, then the city may terminate its agreement with the school district to buy Sunset.

PAYMENT PLANS

Secondly, if the city does not have funds available to complete the $550,000 cash purchase on January 1, 1965, the city may terminate its agreement to buy -- or exercise an option.

This option allows the city until January 1, 1966 to buy the school. If this option is exercised the city will pay the school district $55,000 on or before January 1, 1965, this sum to be credited to the total purchase price if the balance of $445,000 is paid in cash not later than January 1, 1966.

The purchase agreement approved by both the city and the school also makes provision for an alternative payment plan. This is that 60% of $550,000 be paid by the city to the school district on or before January 1, 1965 and the balance in three annual payments, each one-third of the remaining 40% balance, plus interest at 5%.

$2,000 RENT

As soon as the total purchase price is paid by the city to the school district, or the down payment of the alternative payment plan is paid, the city will take title to the school. Thereafter, if the school district wants to use Sunset, it will pay the city $2,000 a month rent.

However, this rental period shall not go beyond July 1, 1965 unless the option is exercised, then the rental period would be extended to July 1, 1966.

If for some reason, Dr. Newton does not sign the sale agreement before January 15, 1965, then the city may terminate the agreement.

All funds received from the sale will be used by the district for new school construction.

AUDITORIUM

Both the city and the school agreed that Sunset auditorium, or any other auditorium on the site, shall be available for school functions for 21 days during the school year for 25 years. Only expenses to the school district for this use would be payment of utilities, janitorial service and necessary personnel for health, safety and public welfare.

Questions & Answers on Health Problems

BY JAMES SHORT, M.D., F.A.C.P.

Q: My doctor told me to take 4 to 6 aspirins a day for arthritis. I read an article in the newspaper saying that aspirin causes bleeding in the stomach. Is this true? Would taking milk or other food with the aspirin prevent the bleeding?

A: Aspirin has been used for many years. It is one of the least toxic of all medications; and although millions are taken every year, we hear very little of complications from their use. Occasionally a child gets into the medicine chest and consumes a large amount with disastrous results. When we consider the effects of aspirin, we must think of both the local and constitutional effects. Locally in the stomach, aspirin causes irritation and burning with some people. Aspirin itself is acid and any irritant to the stomach can produce more acid from the stomach lining. One of the chief functions of the stomach is to produce hydrochloric acid for purposes of digestion. If one had an ulcer of the stomach or the duodenum, aspirin might set up an irritation to cause bleeding. This can be prevented by taking an alkali with the aspirin or by taking aspirin tablets which have a special coating that will not dissolve until it reaches the small intestine. The latter is probably preferable.

Aspirin is still given on something of an empirical basis. By this I mean that its mechonism of action is still not too well understood. It's one of the most valuable drugs we have for the treatment of arthritis. How does it act to prevent the swelling, tenderness, and pain associated with acute rheumatoid arthritis? To this, we must plead ignorance. There has been some evidence to indicate that it may stimulate the adrenal glands to produce cortisone or some related substance. Its effect on the arthritis therefore may be due to a mild stimulation of the adrenals. For many years, ear, nose, and throat specialists have complained that patients who took aspirin after tonsillectomy were more prone to have a hemorrhage from the throat about a week later. It has been assumed from this, and from certain laboratory tests, that aspirin does have some effect on the clotting power of the blood. This led one specialist to suggest, some years ago, that it might be well for all people, especially men, to take a regular dose of aspirin daily as a preventive of coronary heart attacks. There may be some merit to the suggestion, but so far as I know, no one has carried out an extensive controlled experiment along this line.

In reply to this question, I would say: Take the medicine your doctor has ordered. Take milk or other food with the aspirin, if it distresses you, or ask your doctor for a coated tablet. If you don't have ulcers, I doubt if you are in any danger of bleeding in the stomach.

Q: Does emotional stress raise one's cholesterol?"

A: There is some evidence to indicate that cholesterol levels in the blood increase with emotional stress. This is due, no doubt, to the effect of stressful emotions upon the adrenal glands which are stimulated by emotional reactions. Since all biological reactions appear to have some definite purpose, it has long been assumed that adrenal stimulation alerts and prepares the body for combat or flight. When this reaction occurs, the clotting power of the blood is also increased. This function may be to prevent excessive blood loss from tissue injury. It also may explain why severe emotional reactions may result in acute heart attacks in people with coronary artery disease, since such attacks are due to clotting of blood in some branch of the coronary arteries. I am not aware of any relationship between increased cholesterol levels in the blood and increased coagulability. They're probably unrelated, parallel functions. After a stressful emotion is terminated, the cholesterol content will return to its basic level. Better avoid those stressful emotions!

SHERIFF

to Davenport, "It is our feeling, however, that the continued and serious nature of these attacks on the camp facilities warrant a more active role from our local law enforcement agencies."

A copy of this letter with a covering note was forwarded to Supervisor Tom Hudson. To Hudson, Sigourney wrote, "This problem is not restricted to the Girl Scout Camp and there is considerable sentiment here that sufficient efforts are not being made to either discourage or apprehend those who commit unlawful acts." The letter to Hudson added that some residents "feel that the manpower at hand is not being utilized to the greatest extent possible."

A similar type of complaint was made about a year ago in a letter from the board of directors of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce to Sheriff Davenport. At that time, Davenport personally contacted Jack Cowan, then Chamber president, in reply.

"The Sheriff explained to me that there is such a shortage of manpower in his department that a major change in the amount of patrolling assigned to the Valley could only come about through a budgetary change," Cowan said early this week.

Recently Niles Pease, who owns the 9-store building which houses the Carmel Valley General Store, suggested that local merchants co-operate financially to hire a private patrol for the Village commercial area.

But the Real Winner Is Rascha . . .

No one could call Harry Gillett a loser as he accepts from hostess Mimi Cooper the grand prize of the Rooster Night festivities, a natural Norwegian fox collar, donated by Bert Berg who looks on, beaming. Nonetheless, the real winner will obviously be Mrs. Gillett, which is the real purpose of Rooster Night.

The gay event held last Sunday at CV Inn should result in a happy Christmas morning for many a local lady according to Ellen Waters, mistress of ceremonies, who also functioned as consultant to Roosters wishing to deck their own hens in the feathers they saw paraded before them. The costume shown here by Mrs. Cooper was not among those offered for everyday wear, however.

something nice for people to enjoy," she said, "and then this happens. Why would they do it? Why?"

No one had the answer to that, so Mrs. Wilson and her assistant, Mrs. Helen Lewis, simply pitched in, swept up the debris, bought new lights, and refurbished their holiday decor.

"It wasn't but a few minutes after we had everything rearranged," said Mrs. Wilson, "that a lady came into the shop and said to me, 'I want to thank you for fixing something so very lovely to give pleasure to passers by like me.' That made the effort worth it, but if they come again and tear things down, I don't think I'll have the heart to do it over."

Damage to Christmas Decor in Village

More than 50 light bulbs decorating the In and Outdoor Shop and Joanne's in Carmel Valley Village were removed and smashed in the street nearby on the night of Tuesday, December 10. Reflectors were also removed and scattered. A garbage can behind stores on the opposite side of the shopping strip was overturned and its contents also scattered.

"They picked on your store because your decorations are always so outstanding." That's all friends could think of to say to Mrs. Marion Wilson, owner of the In and Outdoor Shop, regarding the senseless, hateful destructive at a time when the nation is especially concerned about destructive hates, and at a time of year when "Goodwill Toward Men" is supposedly the order of the day.

Elderly Mrs. Wilson, who last week was suffering from a lame back which made the arrangement of Christmas decoor an extra effort, could think of very little to say in reply.

CVPOA President Urges Large Turnout At Planning Commission Tuesday

An urgent request that Valley residents turn out in force at the Planning Commission next Tuesday despite the holiday bustle was issued this week on behalf of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association by its president, John Sigourney. "I refer specifically to the Cowan property application which asks for a new precedent by a change of zoning that will allow 84 single family dwellings on 7 acres of land," Sigourney explained. He said that a decision is due on the application which has been pending and continued over a period of time because complete plans had not been previously submitted.

"Pandora's box nearly opened at the last Planning meeting," he said. The hearing was continued at that time only because of the absence of Dr. Joseph Marcucci, who represents the Valley as a member of the Planning Commission. The hearing next Tuesday is scheduled for 1:30 p. m.

MORE TO COME

"Our rural way of life is threatened once more -- not just because of this application, but because of others that I understand are waiting in the wings and will follow rapidly," Sigourney stressed.

He said the large delegation is "quite necessary" because the supporters of the proposal openly and repeatedly challenged the right of the CVPOA president to "speak for Carmel Valley" at the last hearing. Although 600 resident families belong to the CVPOA this year, and all Valley property owners are welcome to attend any of its monthly board meetings, the month-to-month decisions are made by a board of directors.

DELEGATION

"We had understood that the Planning Commission was tired of petitions and delegations and would prefer to deal with an elected spokesman as representative," Sigourney explained. "But Dr. Marcucci assures me that the Planning Commission welcomes a show of opinion through the attendance at its meetings of large groups of residents...

"Thus, I urge you all to attend the hearing at 1:30 next Tuesday and to sign the petitions which board members will be circulating throughout the Valley."

Sigourney said he had received offers from board members of the Mid-Valley POA to circulate petitions in that part of the Valley also.

DENSITY ESTIMATE

"What we need is a complete study to define just what is a 'garden apartment'," Sigourney said. "I have asked the county to estimate the amount of acreage in the transitional zone buffering the commercial areas, and to project what the density will become if all these areas are allowed seven dwelling units per acre," he said.

The Upper Carmel Valley Advisory Committee to the County Planning Commission last week reaffirmed its approval of the plan, which refers to property on Esquiline Road at the edge of the present Cowan School.

SHERIFF ASKED TO PATROL GIRL SCOUT CAMP

A request to Sheriff Jack Davenport that his department patrol Girl Scout Camp Sycamore was sent last week by the Board of Directors of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association on behalf of the Monterey Peninsula Council of Girl Scouts.

Damage to the camp facility by vandals was discovered last month, and has, in addition, been a recurrent problem over the years. The camp is located on the Carmel River below Paso Hondo.

"We are well aware of the many demands made upon your men," wrote John Sigourney, CVPOA president, who signed the letter

Community Center Board Tackles Pool Question Tonight

The Board of Directors of the Carmel Valley Community Center will hold a special meeting Wednesday (tonight) at 8 p. m. at the Center to discuss the advisability of trying to raise the remaining funds needed to complete the swimming pool by means of a loan against the Community Center property. All interested persons will be welcome to attend.

The Swimming Pool Committee wishes to extend thanks to the more than 100 additional donors who have contributed since the last list of givers was printed in these columns. Space does not permit publication of their names this week, but the complete list will appear next week. Rather than expending funds and volunteer time to extend thanks through individual letters, the committee is taking this means to do so and hopes that everyone will understand.

Moratorium on News !

The Outlook office is flooded with news stories of Christmas events, feature stories of Christmas activities, and pictures of Christmas preparations -- sufficient to fill three issues the size of this one!

Publicity Chairmen Please, Please Note !

We are extremely sorry, but no more material can be accepted for the next two weeks except the briefest facts regarding approaching events which have not yet been mentioned in these columns. (By briefest facts we mean time, place, main features, cost of tickets if any, etc.)

Many of the organizations take pleasure in printing lists of committee workers, etc., who work so hard to make the various community events so pleasurable for so many. We will be able to publish information of this type in our issue of January 1. The deadline for copy will be the afternoon of Thursday, December 26.

No Outlook for Christmas

The growth of this little paper has been so rapid that our small staff has worked quite literally night and day for the past several weeks. Since they have families and Christmas preparations of their own which need attention, we have decided not to publish the issue which would be scheduled for publication on Wednesday, December 25.

Therefore all information which publicity chairmen wish to appear before Christmas must be brought or telephoned to us within the next two days. Editor Betty Branch is at present in Texas, accompanying her husband who has been sent on a week's business trip by the research firm which employs him locally. Assistant Editor Mrs. Dorothy Reed will be in charge of the next issue. During working hours she can be reached at MA 4-8364.
